

Cinema Gold:

Timing, Trends, and Box Office Magic

Movies are a big part of our lives. They entertain us, bring people together, and shape our culture. By looking at box office data, we can see what makes a movie successful, like its genre, MPAA rating, and release date. Movies are a billion-dollar industry, and understanding what helps them earn money can show us what audiences love and why.

Total Revenue

616.33bn

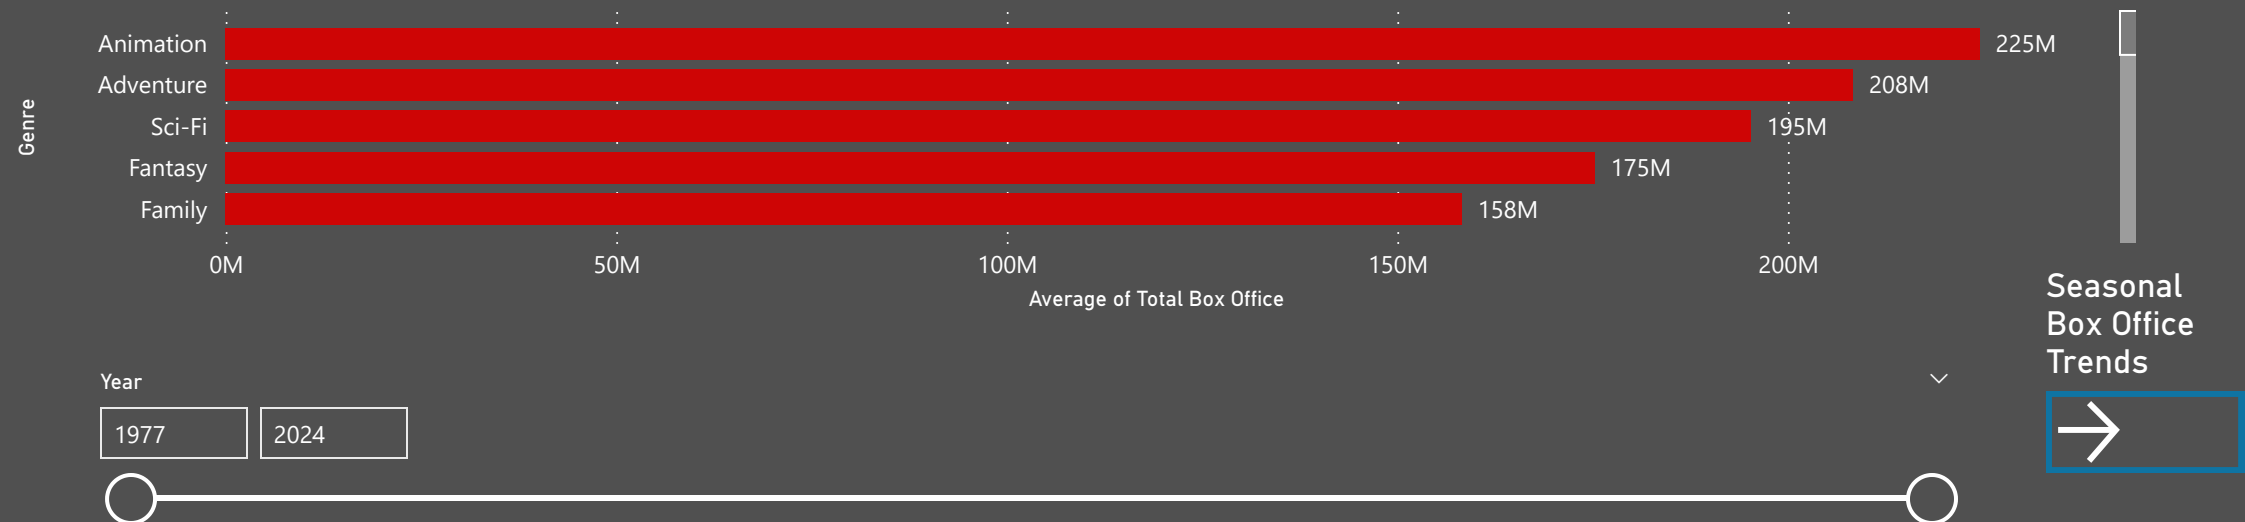

Movie Count

7K

Highest Movie Revenue

3bn

Top 4 Genres by Box Office

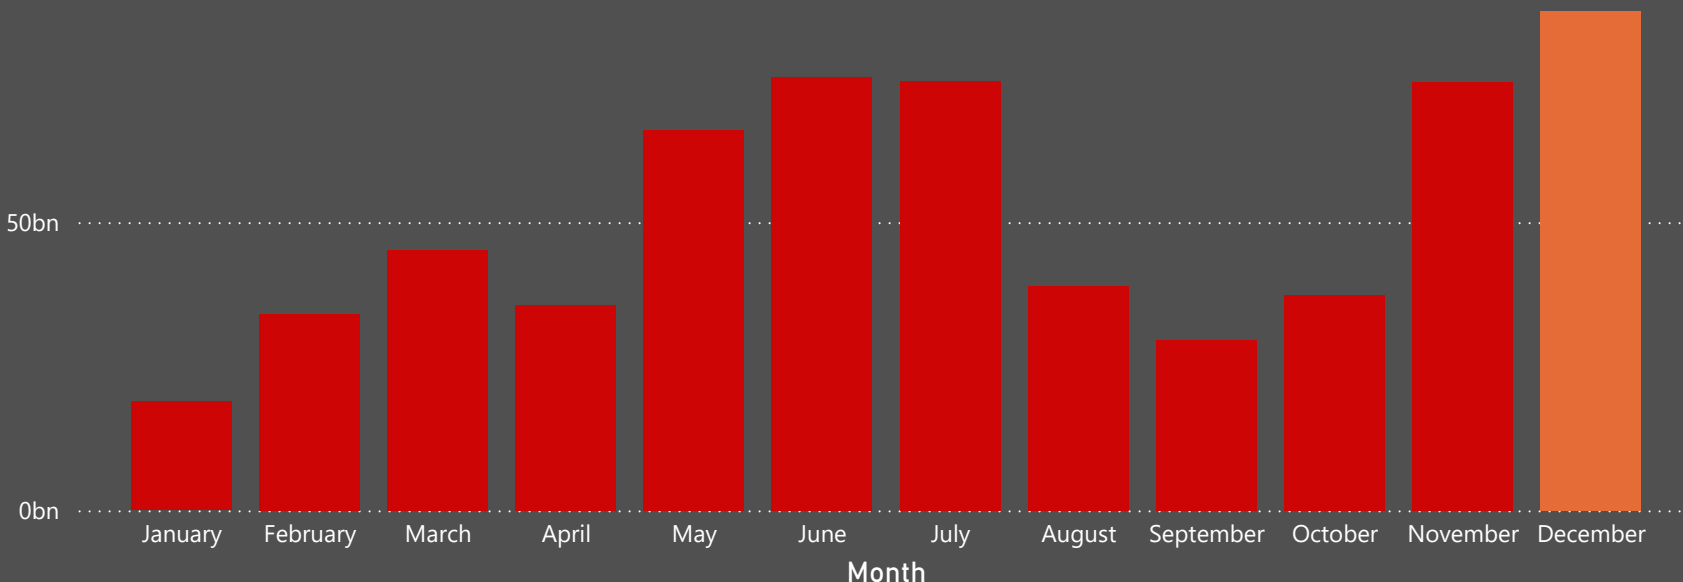

100bn

Monthly Box Office Performance

Sum of Total Box Office

The timing of movie releases significantly influences box office performance.

Studios often release major films during peak seasons, such as summer, to maximize audience reach.

Conversely, months like January and February are considered "dump months," with studios releasing less prominent films during these times.

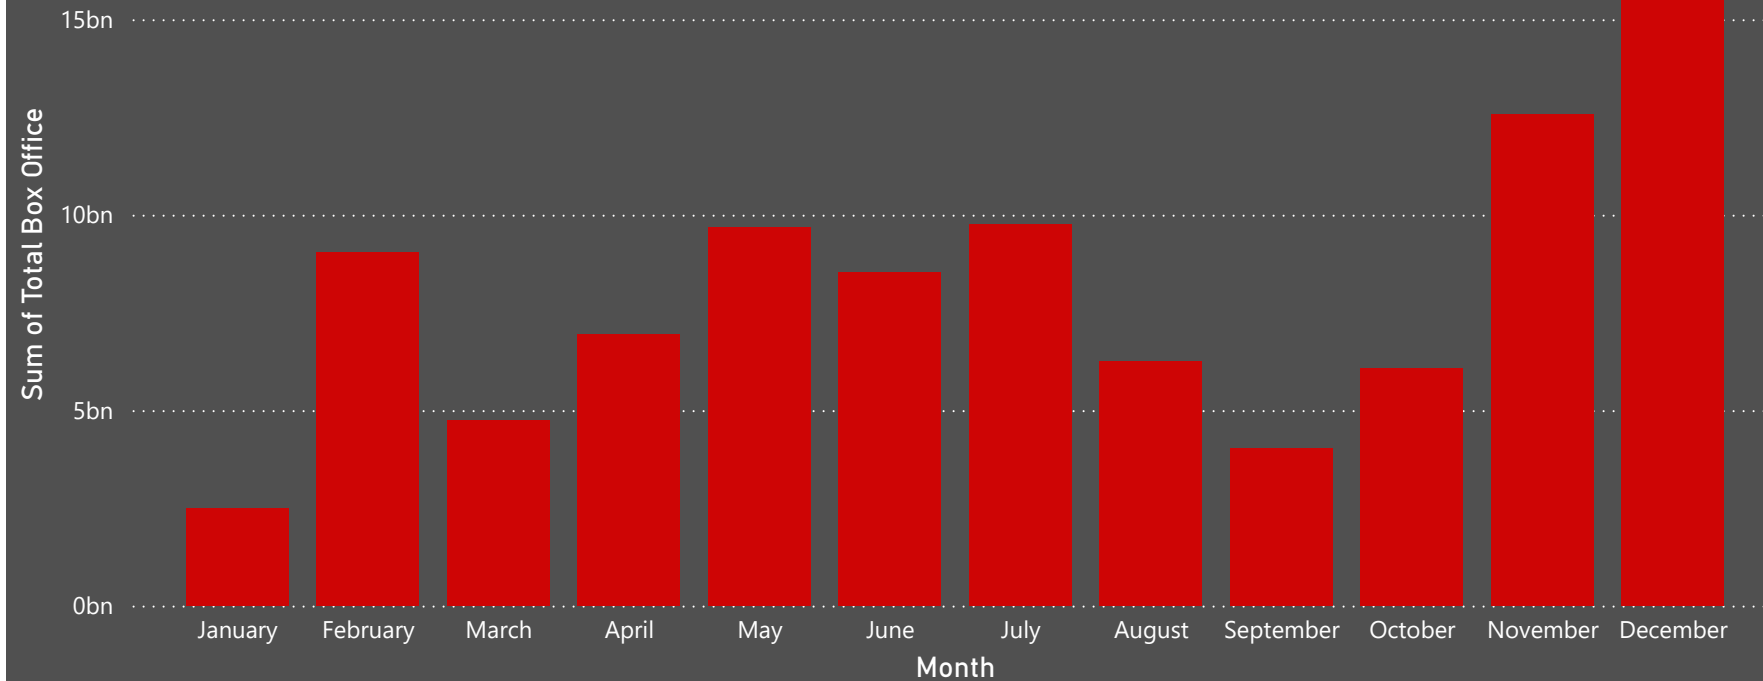

Select a month to discover box office insights.

● December was
The Peak Month!

Why Romance
Reigns in February

An Unexpected Outlier

Genre

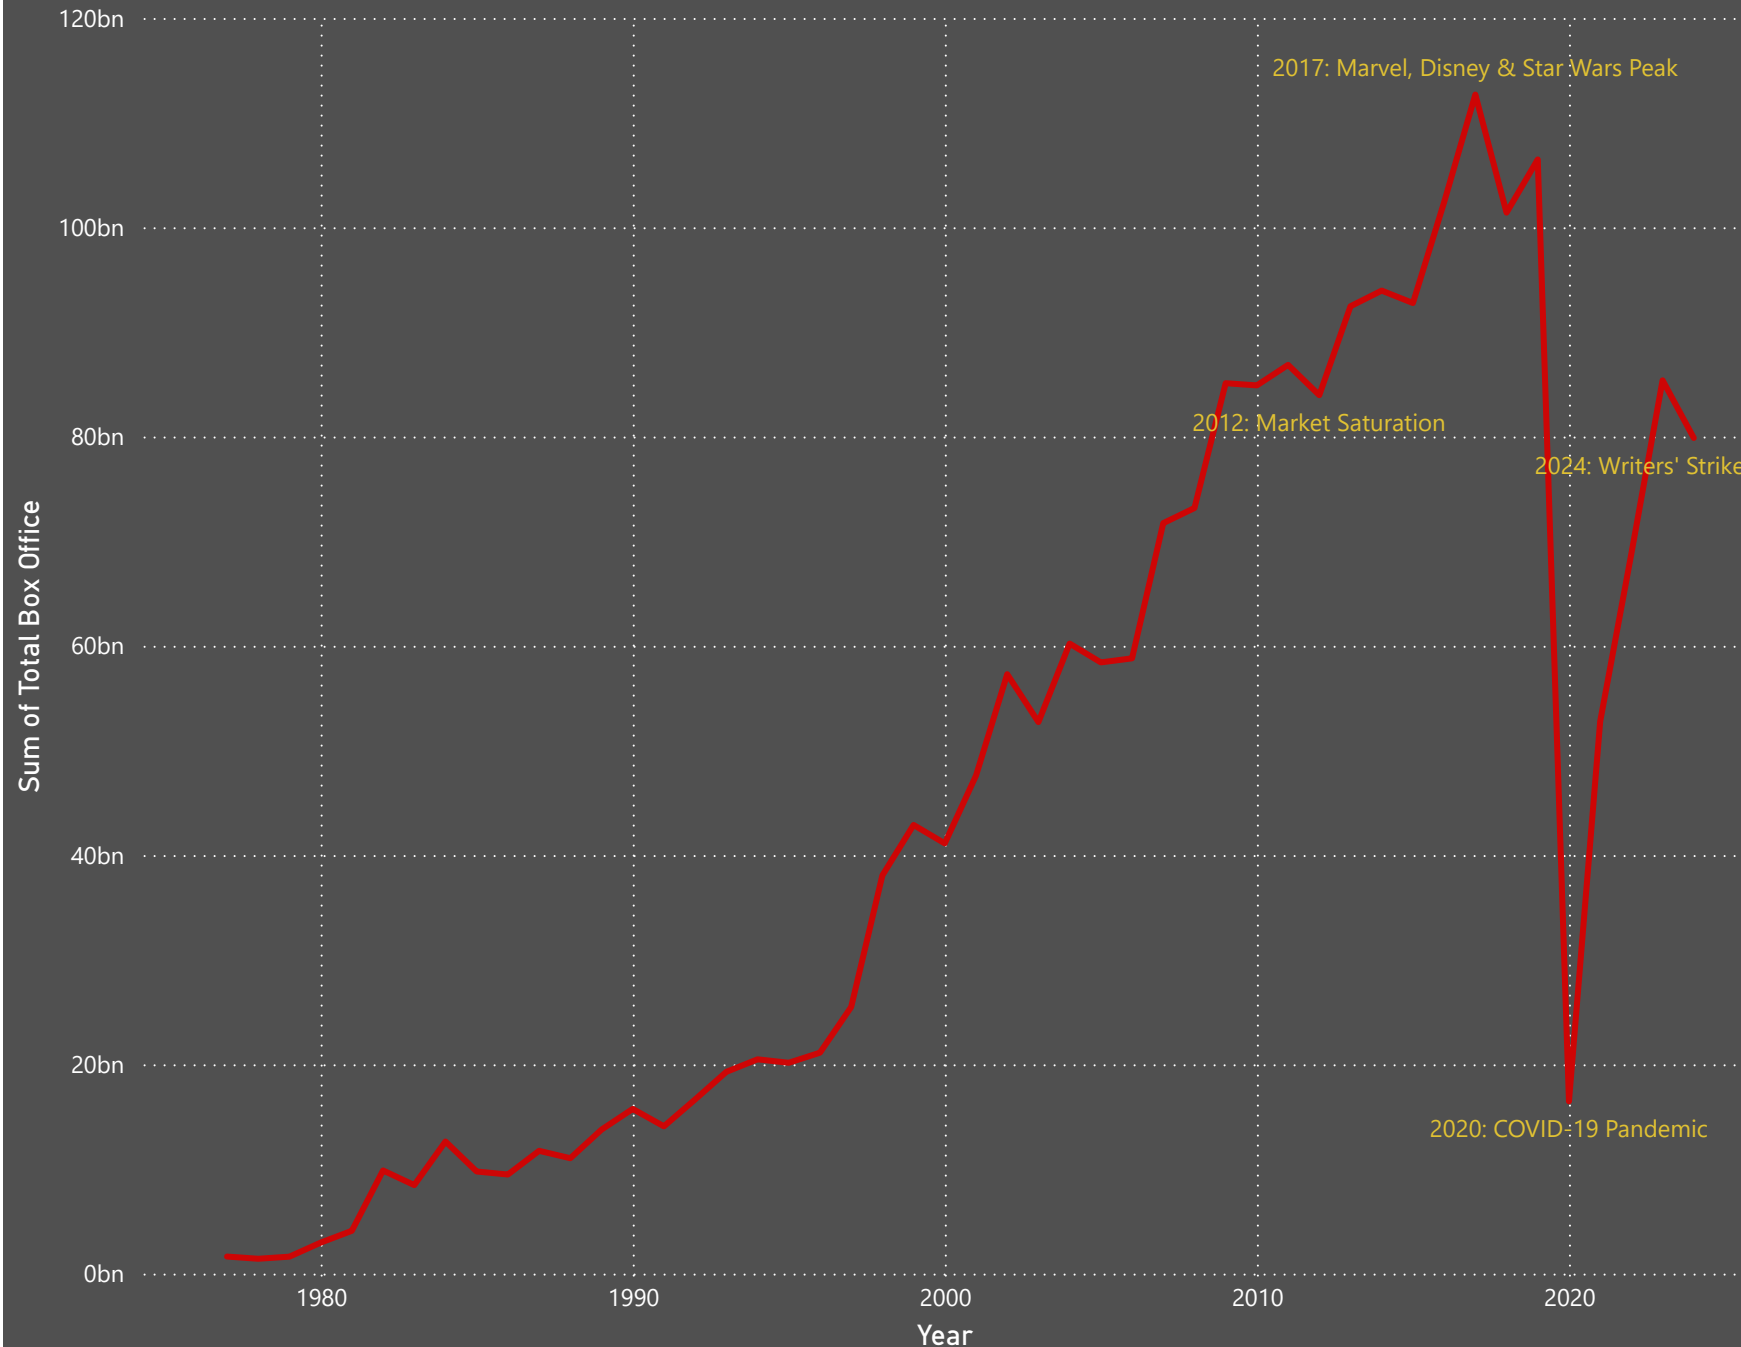

- ☐ Action
- ☐ Adventure
- ☐ Animation
- ☐ Biography
- ☐ Comedy
- ☐ Crime
- ☐ Documentary
- ☐ Drama
- ☐ Family
- ☐ Fantasy
- ☐ Film-Noir
- ☐ History

Although Everything for the Romance genre in terms of box office by month seems to go as the trend in the previous slide, but there an outlier, it has peaked in February, February was one of the lowest months.

This is because valentines day happens in that month!

Box Office by Year

World events have a major impact on box office trends.

From the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020 to the Writers' and Actors' Strikes in 2023–2024, disruptions in production and theater attendance caused significant dips in revenue.

On the flip side, years like 2017 saw a surge as the global market aligned, with studios around the world releasing blockbuster films simultaneously creating historic peaks in earnings.

Understanding these shifts requires looking beyond the charts at what was happening in the world.

The Weekly Decline Curve

Sum of Week Revenue by Week

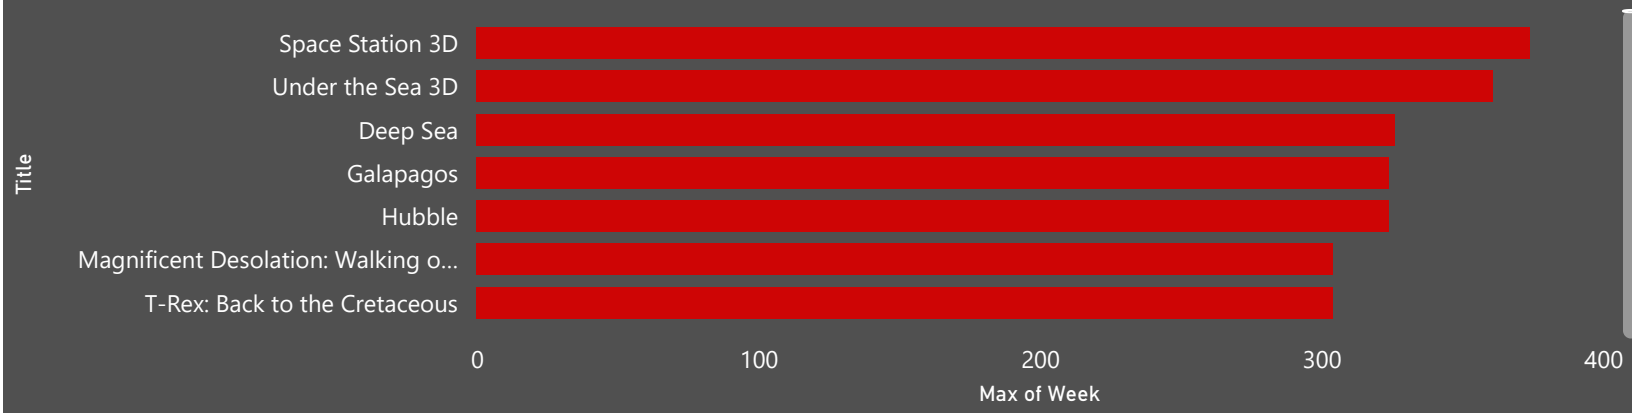

16.43

Week average

Most films experience a Steep Decline in weekly revenue after their opening weekend, there are reasons to this:

1. Firstly Because Movies have massive marketing before their opening weeks and basically no marketing afterwards.
2. When the weeks go by new releases with marketing are released so people turn their attention to those ones.
3. This Results in movie Releases to be not that long.

Outlier's in week Length

Then Why some Movies have 300+ Weeks???

-Is it a Bug?

-Are they just that famous??

The Answer is: No None of those!

Its Actually because they are not even movies!!!!

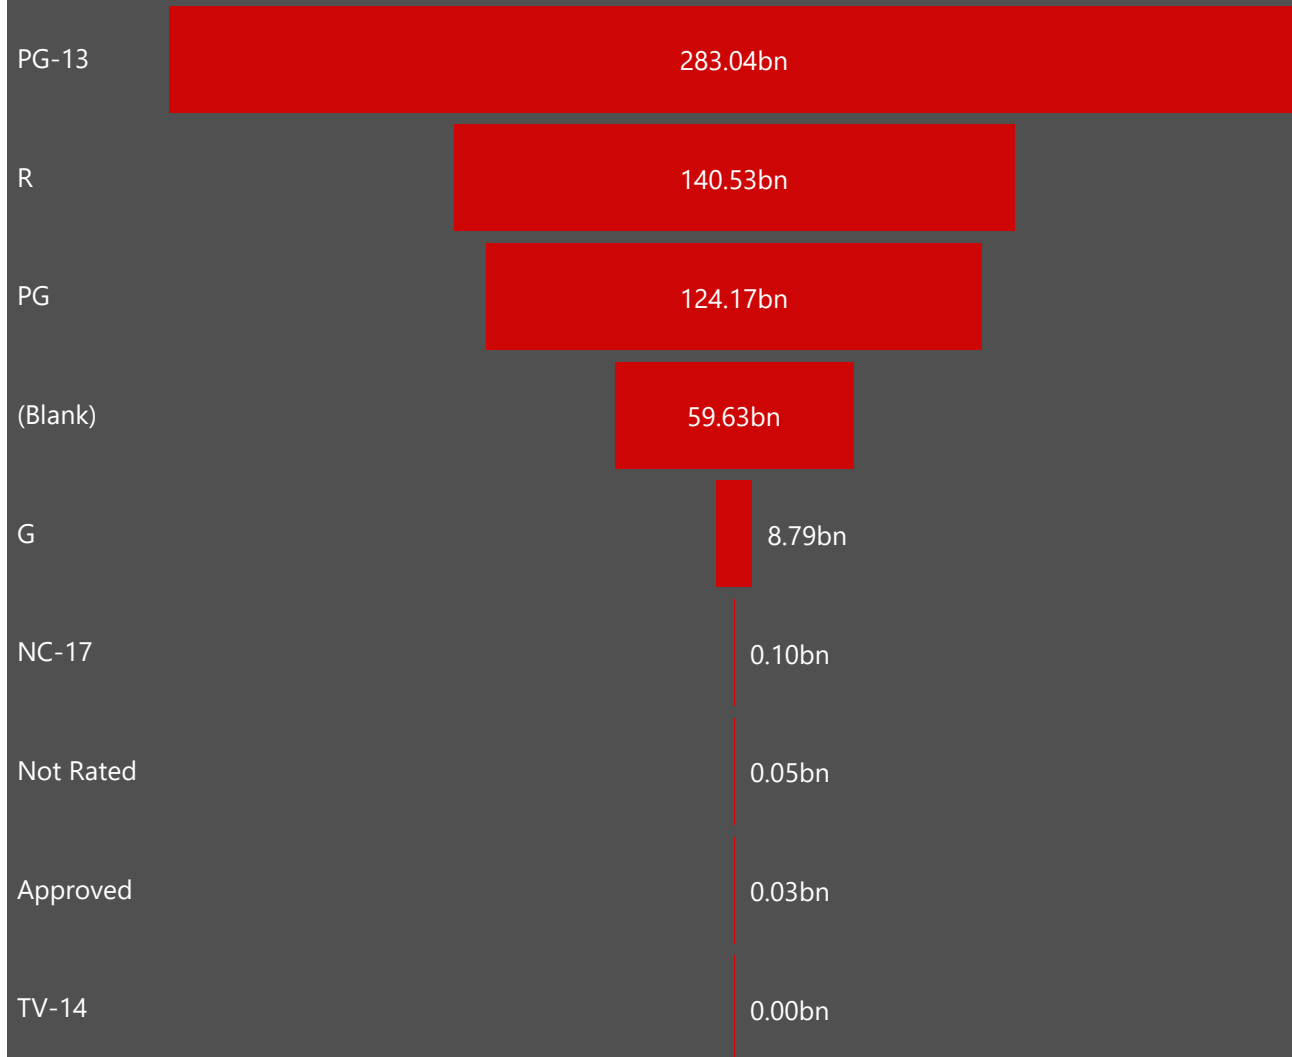

Thats because they are documentaries, and with documentaries they usually don't go with theatrical big releases, but more smaller festival and inhouse like cinemas, which can span to more than a year!!

AN OUTLIER WITHIN THE OUTLIERS!

T-REX: Back to the Cretaceous is the only one which is not a documentary but an actual MOVIE, and the reason is becuae it's one of the FIRST IMAX 3D EXPERIENCE movies everyone for so long wanted to experience this new form of cinema so its theatrical run was way long.

Box Office by MPAA Rating

Well This One was Expected.

Adults have Work to do, and kids under the age of 13 usually don't watch movies, they play outside most of the time or even play games.

So WHO has the most free time to watch movies???

YOU GUESSED IT CORRECTLY!

Kids and Teenagers between the ages of 13-18(PG-13 Rating) have that luxury.

Heck even adults spend their time picking the movies out for their kids!!

Result: Studios often target this rating because besides the fact that was stated, it also has fine line between maturity and playfulness, for example in 2009 WWE decided to go from R to pg-13, boosting its revenue but tons!

At the start we set out to understand what does impact the box office of movies

To Summarize:

- 1- The Month of the Release matters significantly.
- 2- The politics and events of the world play a Crucial part.
- 3- And Also if you want to make money, create content for kids and teenagers!

And at the End, Thanks for taking the time to walk through this with me. :)

Best Regards,
Roshak Masoudi Nejad 810102559

Zakiye Amin: 810102398

Parsa Taherkhani: 810102579